

Two cars, each with a mass of 1000 kg and speed of 20 m/s, have an inelastic collision. In what direction and at what speed does the wreckage move (a) if one car is driving north and the other one south? (b) if one car was driving North and the other one East?